

West Virginia Regulator Says Alpha Natural Asset Sale May Jeopardize Cleanup

04.22.2016

As reported by Reuters, the West Virginia Department of Environmental Protection opposes a plan by Alpha Natural Resources to sell core assets to its hedge fund lenders, saying in a court filing that it could undermine a $1 billion cleanup.

Bailey Glasser attorney Kevin Barrett of the firm's Charleston, West Virginia, office, is representing the West Virginia Department of Environmental Protection.
